

World Fellowship Ukulele Weekend, July 20-23, 2023

Ukulele strummers return to World Fellowship in July! Come gather for an informal 3-day weekend starting Thursday dinner, July 20th, through Sunday lunch, July 23rd. Come for all or part. If you enjoyed an earlier ukulele festival at WFC, welcome back. If you haven't participated before we look forward to strumming with new friends.

Activities for this low-key weekend will be planned by participants. There will be no faculty – and no additional program fee. We will all make the program when we get there. Molly and Dan Lynn Watt, creators of the original WF Ukelele Festival, will serve as coordinators for the weekend, and facilitate short planning meetings using a white board and post-its. Maybe someone will suggest a theme: Beatles, 20s pop, 50s rock-n-roll, folk music, political songs, gospel songs, Hawaiian songs and hula, a free-for-all sing and strum circle, or an open mic.

Or perhaps someone will offer a workshop on ukulele basics or strumming and picking techniques. Whatever strikes our fancy, for as many as want to participate. Maybe get together a group to perform at Friday's Fun Night. Every evening, singing on the porch after the evening program.

You and your family can also enjoy other things that make WFC special, hiking or biking in the White Mountains, swimming and boating in Whitton Pond, art and games and hanging out on the porch! Invite your friends. Strummers at all levels are welcome – novice to experts - we'll all have fun together.

Why just sing "Down by the Riverside" when you can do your strumming down by the riverside? Or anywhere you like.

If you have come before to one of our previous ukulele festivals, bring your old resource binders. If you don't have a binder you will find a set of resources from old festivals here. You can download these to a device, or print them out (be warned, lots of pages). We may be adding other downloadable resources later. When you register for the weekend, we'll let you know of any additions. In addition, we can all bring song sheets to copy and share.

Questions? www.worldfellowship.org has what you need to know about the center, facilities, registration, etc. Or call (603) 447-2280. Dan and Molly can also answer questions about the weekend: [dwatt40@comcast.net](mailto:d watt40@comcast.net), mollywatt@comcast.net
